

Gillette - The Future in Global Security Solutions

Gillette®

For nearly 30 years, companies worldwide have relied on Honeywell's experience and solutions approach to help solve their complex and ever-changing security challenges. As Gillette's Sam Auciello states: "Our security initiative was to find a manufacturer with a strong dealer network that would allow us to build a security system that would fit into our current infrastructure. The support we received has been the key selling point to us. Not just building a system, but a partnership with our input."

This commitment to our customers and partners has established Honeywell as a leader in Global Security Solutions. Reliability is key to securing a total solutions partner. Who can you trust? Honeywell – the future in securing companies worldwide.

"This system is not only the future for Gillette, but the future for all companies worldwide."
Sam Auciello, Security Manager for Gillette's Boston Campus.
